

TITLE: EMPLOYMENT FIRST POLICY

Our Commitment

The Missouri Division of Developmental Disabilities along with our partners, including persons with developmental disabilities, community provider agencies, other state and local funding agencies is committed to enhancing community employment options for persons with developmental disabilities. The Division believes that all individuals with developmental disabilities who want to work CAN work and contribute to their community when given opportunity, training, and supports that build on an individual's strengths. Our expectation is that everyone of working age and those supporting them should consider work as their first option as fully participating members of their community, and should build on career planning and engage in work that makes sense to them.

Our Vision and Beliefs

Employment is a viable option for all people with developmental disabilities who want to work.

Beliefs:

- People who want to work can work
- People that are of working age are expected to work
- People have the right to achieve their career goals
- People should earn prevailing wage in an integrated setting of their choice
- People should have the opportunity and support to realize economic self-sufficiency

History

Persons with developmental disabilities have been asking and seeking alternatives to current supports and services. Specifically, individuals have been asking for supported and community based employment supports and services. In October 2008, the Division of Developmental Disabilities initiated a statewide employment initiative by joining the State Employment Leadership Network (SELN). The SELN is coordinated by National Association of State Directors of Developmental Disabilities Services (NASDDDS) and the Institute for Community Inclusion at the University of Massachusetts - Boston. The goal of the SELN is to establish a learning community of states interested in improving employment outcomes for persons with developmental disabilities, support the development of employment policy and strategy, and increase the number of individuals working in individual integrated employment. Each state develops an employment strategic plan which seeks to maximize resources, develop more effective employment systems, use data to guide daily program management, improve performance, and employment outcomes for persons with developmental disabilities. The Division has developed a state level employment leadership network to support this process.

The Division's employment leadership network is comprised of persons with developmental disabilities, family members, community provider agencies, Missouri Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities, Missouri Governor's Council on Disability, Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, the Office of Special Education, Missouri Division of Workforce Development, Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education - Office of Adult Learning and Rehabilitation Services, University of Missouri Kansas City Institute for Human Development, Missouri Parents Act, North East Missouri Workforce Investment Board, APSEMO and other state and local agencies, including Senate Bill 40 boards.

As part of a restructuring process, the Division hired a Director of Employment and Training and identified Employment Coordinators in each of the 11 regional offices. This creates a concentrated effort around employment and moving employment outcomes for persons with developmental disabilities and the division's employment strategic plan forward through partnering with local businesses, chambers of commerce and other civic groups.

Purpose & Policy

The guiding purpose for this policy statement is to articulate the vision for employment services/supports for persons with developmental disabilities.

This policy establishes community integrated employment services and supports as the first service option and primary outcome for individuals (both youth and adults.) It also establishes employment planning (Career Planning) and supports as priorities to explore with all working adults who receive services in order to ensure that supports, services, and outcomes are consistent with what the person is seeking.

January 2011

Each individual will be supported to pursue his or her own unique path to work, a career, and his or her contribution to/participation in community life. All individuals, regardless of the challenge of their disability, will be afforded an opportunity to pursue employment. Career planning, including job exploration and on-going person focused self discovery, is critical when assisting individuals in making informed choices about their future careers.

Policy Implementation

It is expected that:

- All individuals are informed of all the potential employment related options including self employment.
- Job/Career exploration will be reviewed and offered so the individual can make an informed choice regarding community employment. Mere conversations about employment are not sufficient. Individuals need experiences in order to make good decisions.
- Community employment planning (Career Planning) is a priority to explore with individuals currently receiving services in order to ensure that supports, services, and outcomes are consistent with what the person is seeking.
- On-going career planning is expected to be addressed in the Person Centered Planning Process for all individuals who are of working age so that career advancement opportunities are explored on a regular basis.
- Students transitioning from school will have opportunities for job experiences and training.
- The Division will utilize labor market information and identify regional business trends to provide guidance for providers and other stakeholders.
- The Division will support ongoing staff development and professional competencies for all employment-related staff.

Policy Review

- Monitoring and documentation of the effectiveness of services and supports in progressing towards employment outcomes will take place, at a minimum, on an annual basis and during the quarterly review process.
- The Division will develop a comprehensive approach to data collection and management. Data will be used to identify policy objectives, report to stakeholders and track goal accomplishments.
