

Improving lives THROUGH supports and services
THAT FOSTER self-determination.

8/7/17

AADMD Videoconferences

The American Academy of Developmental Medicine and Dentistry(AADMD) along with the Vanderbilt Kennedy University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities will host a series of three live videoconferences focused on providing improved medical care to adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

Aug. 31, Noon-1:00 CDT -Special Health Care Needs of Adults with IDD, including why we need more adult providers willing to welcome this population.

Nov. 16, Noon-1:00 CST-Transition to Adult Care, including why this is so challenging and why knowing about community resources is so important.

Dec. 14, Noon-1:00 CST -Behavioral and Mental Health Needs of Adults with IDD, including substance abuse concerns and neurology.

For more information you may visit their website at:

<http://vkc.mc.vanderbilt.edu/etoolkit/wp-content/uploads/Fall-Telehealth-Series-2017.pdf>

www.dmh.mo.gov/dd
573-751-4054

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH