Systematic Instruction Training Opportunity

Missouri Association of People Supporting Employment First (APSE) will be hosting a series of one day professional development opportunities on "Systematic Instruction" featuring national subject matter expert Teri Johnson. Teri has 35 years of national experience in delivering and training professionals on implementing Systematic Instruction.

Systematic Instruction was introduced over 40 years ago and continues to be an essential skill set in expanding employment opportunities for individuals with disabilities. This session will provide an overview of the components of systematic instruction; research based strategies for analyzing and conducting task analysis; and teaching of workplace tasks. Performance documentation, employee safety, independence and learning style accommodations will also be addressed. This training would fulfill employment service professional continuing education requirements.

Registration and additional information about this training opportunity can be accessed here.
