Benefits Planning Live Case Study

September 2, 2020
1:30 p.m.

Many Missourians with disabilities need support navigating the systems of public benefits they receive. The ability to provide accurate information about benefits and work can make a difference for individuals. As part of its Employment First initiative, the State of Missouri has developed a three part live case study focusing on positive discussions and strategies in supporting recipients of public benefits with making an informed decision about employment.

The introductory case study will focus on how work would affect benefits, how to keep health benefits at various earnings levels, how a Plan to Achieve Self Support (PASS) might be used, and how an individual can have more money working full time without SSDI than working part time while keeping SSDI.

Presenter: Michael Dalto - VOICE National Subject Matter Expert.

Target Audience: This webinar is designed for benefit planning professionals and others who have attended previous training on benefits planning.
